CHICKAMAUGA.

The Battleground There as Viewed by One Who had Seen it Thirty Years ago—Matters of Great Interest to Old Soldiers.

THE SEVENTEENTH KENTUCKY.

To the Surviving Members of the Seventeenth Kentucky Regiment—I have just returned from the battlefield of Chickamauga, where the twenty-third annual reunion of the Army of the Cumberland was held, and thinking perhaps you would like to know how the field looks twenty-nine years after the fight, I will undertake to tell you the best I can of what I saw and the places that will be no doubt familiar to those who engaged in that terrible battle.

The Government, as you probably know, has purchased the land or a great part of the territory covered by the fight and proposes to make it a National Park and it will therefore be kept in good order for all time. I learned from one of the Commissioners, who have the matter in charge that it was first intended to buy or condemn about 12,000 acres, but the owners of the land were so high in their demands that they concluded to only purchase about 5,500 acres which they think will be enough to fully establish the lines of the contending armies.

While the parties in charge have done much towards putting the Park in good shape there is still a vast amount of work yet to be done. They have built several roads and drives along and in the neighborhood of the battle lines, but have many more to build. They are the finest I ever saw. They first grade the road—put on an immense iron roller and make it almost as solid as a rock—and then they gravel it, that is, they cement the top with gravel and roll it again—and where there is any wash they cover the ditches or gutters with limestone rock, of which there is an abundance on the ground. They have taken out the underbrush at the most of the important points and will remove all of it before they get through, the intention being to make the field look as much like it did at the time of the battle as it is possible to do.

I was much bothered and worried while looking over a map of the battle at the hotel at Crawfish Springs, as Wood's division was not put down as I thought it ought to be, being under the impression all the time that we were with him, but after I saw a table with Beatty's division in Van Cleve's division I found that we joined Wood after that time.

I found the following record on one of the tables, viz:
"Beatty's First Brigade.
"Dick's Second Brigade.
Barnes Third Brigade.
"Beatty's and Dick's brigades were ordered forward from Lee & Gordon's Mill at 1:30 p. m., to support Palmer's division, leaving Barnes' brigade at the mill. Soon after 2 p. m., Beatty's brigade formed at this point, and an advance of 200 yards led to heavy fighting and resulted in the capture of four guns.
"At 3:30 p. m., Vaneleve had been driven across Lafayette road at Brotherton's by Bates' and Clayton's brigades of Stewart's divisions. At this point he made a stand, but soon after was forced by Clayton attacking in front and Bushrod Johnson on the right. Clayton followed 500 yards, etc."

Now you will readily recognize from the above our first fighting. In order to trace our line it was necessary to find the point at which Beatty's brigade first left the Lafayette road. I was very fortunate in this, as I hired a Mr. Brotherton to drive me to different points on the field and in my talk with him I happened to speak of our regiment capturing a battery directly after leaving the road and killing all the artillery and horses. "Oh, I know that very spot," said he. "I was born and raised right here and have been there often." He said it was a great curiosity for years after to people who came.

The horses were piled up in a great heap, some on top of others, and the spot was marked for years until some Chattanooga firm sent a force out there and gathered up the bones of all animals that could be found and had them ground up into dust and sold as fertilizer. His recollection is that there were 36 horses in that pile. I know we killed all that belonged to the battery and wheeled the guns to the rear. I learn from a table on the road that it is just 350 yards to that battery. I did not think it was that far at that time, but we were in a hurry then and had no time to calculate distances. At the battery I nailed a board on a tree with this inscription: "17th Ky., Vol., Inf'y. Right here the 17th Ky., and 79th Indiana captured a battery and killed the artillery horses."

I was informed while down there that it was Barnes' Confederate battery. Mr. Brotherton then pointed out the position of our battery across the road where we made the stand and from which we were driven away by Bushrod Johnson's men coming down the flank. That position is about 40 yards from the Lafayette road and on a considerable rise in the ground. I could never have found this place without help, as the field has undergone a great change. Here I put up another board to mark the place—being the second position held the first day. The position of the regiment the morning of the second day I found while down there three years ago, but not having any boards or marking material, I did not designate it, but this trip I went prepared and we are now in line. This position, too, is on a road running parallel with Lafayette road not more than a quarter of a mile from it, and not exceeding three quarters of a mile from where we went into the fight the first day. I have wondered many times since the battle how Barnes' brigade got out, as we left them, you remember, at Lee & Gordon's mill, and the enemy having driven us across the Lafayette road and having possession, one would suppose the boys were lost, but I found this trip that McCook's division was at the springs when the battle opened, and they came across to the mill and that Barnes fell in with them and followed the route that we had taken until they came to what is called the Vineyard place, where the enemy attacked and where there was some desperate fighting done, the road being right between the lines. Judging from the distance between the Lafayette road and the one we were on the morning of the second day, I take it that Bragg's men fell back from their advanced position on the first day and that McCook, coming down the road from the mill, was the cause of it, but of this I am only guessing. The place of battle on the morning of the second day is very familiar. The field where one of our batteries was located has been in cultivation ever since and looks to me just as it did then. Having been flanked by a column coming down that road, you will remember we were forced back to the top of a hill. This is now the celebrated Snodgrass hill, which was considered the "key" to the whole battle line. I followed the route of the troops from that road to the top of the hill and here I found the exact place and there I put up a board marking the last spot held by the grand old Seventeenth Kentucky in that memorable battle. This hill is just the same, the timber and bushes reminding me of the 20th of September, 1863, although the underbrush is of a new growth, but the commissioners have cut out and trimmed it up until it looks just as it did then. I could hardly find a place for my board, as the Ohio regiments had taken up nearly all the space, but I squeezed in and put up our sign right at the front, which position we certainly held the whole of that long and bloody day. The Confederates have put up some boards to our right about 200 yards, showing the positions held by them at the close of the fight, and from these one can see that we were in a terribly close place. Nothing but darkness saved us, as they were almost in our rear. They captured the 21st Ohio and the 89th Indiana just at dark, which left our right flank exposed, and they could have easily driven us from the hill. There is one important fact about that fight that I did not know until three years ago and that is that Gen. Thomas' troops fought behind breastworks during the whole of the second day, his soldiers throwing up works during the night. But with us it was different; we had no barricades or breastworks at any time. No wonder that Thomas was called the "Rock of Chickamauga."

There were many places I would like to have gone, but my whole time was taken up in trying to place our regiment in proper line. The boards I have put up are only temporary, and we, the survivors, ought by means to mark the spots in a more substantial manner.

I regretted very much that some others did not go with me and assist in tracing the various lines, although I think they are correct. I would advise all who can to go down there at some future time and if they can throw any light on the subject, to do so. The commissioners are very anxious to have all the lines correctly established and therefore invite all who took part in the battle, to assist them.

Two of Company "C" were there; C. A. Brashear and M. B. Brown, of Christian county, but I did not know it until after they had gone home. I may have seen them, but failed to recognize them; was very sorry indeed that I did not meet them. As I stood on Snodgrass hill and looked down the slope towards Chattanooga I went back in my imagination to the scene on same ground the day of the fight when the whole hillside was literally covered with the dead and dying. It was a grand but terrible sight and those who saw it will never forget it. I thought of many dear friends in the Seventeenth Kentucky whose life blood ebbed away on that slope and my very soul was saddened. Let us hope that we may never witness the like again.

The only familiar spots about Chattanooga are Lookout Mountain, Mission Ridge and Orchard Knob. Fort Wood has been cleared and houses built over and around it. "Hell's Half Acre" is occupied by a lumber yard. S. K. Cox.

King's Sentence.

MEMPHIS, TENN., September 17.—When Gov. Buchanan commuted the sentence of H. Clay King, who was to have been hanged last month for the murder of David H. Poston, it was developed that a letter of sympathy from Grover Cleveland to Mrs. E. K. White, a niece of King, figured as one of Gov. Buchanan's excuses for his actions. The following correspondence on the subject was secured to-day from Frank P. Poston, a brother of King's victim:

A LETTER TO MR. CLEVELAND.
MEMPHIS, TENN., August 13, 1892.—Hon. Grover Cleveland, Buzzard's Bay, Mass.: DEAR SIR—I have read with much surprise and regret the reports in our papers that you have interceded with Gov. Buchanan in behalf of H. Clay King, the condemned murderer of my brother, David H. Poston, whose sentence was recently commuted. I was surprised that a man of your usually firm character, who has so uniformly advocated the upholding and prompt enforcement of the law, would or could be led astray by the wails or entreaties of a female relative of the convicted man, and ask for clemency in his behalf in the face of the sentence of every court through which his case passed, and the overwhelming public sentiment, not only here, but throughout the country, demanding his execution as a punishment for his atrocious crime. I regret your action, because I have always been a Democrat and have ever voted the straight ticket, as have my family since there was a Democratic party. But, believing as I do, that your action was unwarranted, and a blow at good government and a prompt enforcement of our local laws, I will, for the first time in my life, decline to vote for the nominee of the party on the national ticket. My family connected is large and they will pursue the same course. King's crime was peculiarly cold-blooded and atrocious, and was committed after days of deliberation, and in a manner nothing short of assassination. The courts have so decreed, but owing to the influence of certain prominent politicians, who know nothing of the facts or the parties, except as gained from the newspapers, our Governor has been induced to cheat the gallows of its just dues and spare the assassin for more of his work. I do not write you in anger, but simply to let you know that your course has not met the approval of this community. Yours very truly, FRANK P. POSTON.

COL. C. M. BARNETT.

The subject of this sketch was born near Hartford, June 4, 1864, and worked on the farm until 18 years of age, having only the advantage of the public schools to obtain an education. Then attended Ayers Academy, College Hill, Ky., one term, and afterward attended North-Western University, Evanston, Ill., and De-Paw University, Greencastle, Ind.

Engaged in the abstract business one year at Howard, Kansas. Returned to Kentucky and was married February 27, 1887 to Miss Alice D. Bennett. Engaged in farming until fall of '89, when he established The Republican and continued to conduct it until last November, when he accepted a position in the Revenue Service of the 2d District. Was Secretary of the Executive Committee in 1890. May 1891 was elected a member of the State Central Committee, at the Lexington Convention. Was re-elected at Elizabethtown last spring.

He has always taken intense interest in politics, even before his majority, and has taken part in all the local contests for a number of years.

His father and elder brother were members of the 26th Ky. Infantry, during the late war, and his brother, Andrew, was assassinated by the James boys, under Quantrell, while at home recruiting.

The Barnett family is one of the oldest in the county, his great grandfather being one of the settlers at Barnett's Station, now Hartford, having emigrated from Maryland. He is a member of the Sons of Veterans and Knights of Pythias orders, in both of which he stands very high. He was nominated for Congress on the Republican ticket at the recent Elizabethtown Convention.

Col. Barnett is a young man of acknowledged ability and his election by the people of the fourth District to represent them in the next House of Representatives would be a wise one. He will stump the District between now and November, and he will take care of Republican doctrines to the satisfaction of his party.

George Ticknor Curtis Represents the Chicago Platform.

[American Economist.]
RICHFIELD SPRINGS, N. Y., Sept. 10.
To the Editor of the American Economist:

SIR.—In common with many other Democrats, I cannot follow the leaders of the party in denouncing Republican Protection as a fraud upon the labor of the great majority of the American people for the benefit of a few; nor can I subscribe to the doctrine that a Protective Tariff is unconstitutional. I have no pecuniary interest in manufacture, but I know what Protection has done and is doing for this country. If it operates for the benefit of the few, I am not one of that few. I am one of the many; one of the great majority benefited by it, including those who denounce it for the sake of obtaining political power.

If the leaders of a political party assembled in national convention for the purpose of nominating candidates for the Presidency and Vice-Presidency choose to stultify themselves by falsifying history, they cannot expect to be followed by others who have any habits of independent thought and action. The learned pundits who were lately assembled at Chicago in national convention of the Democratic party, adopted by a two-thirds vote, and against the report of the Committee on Resolutions, the following as a "plank" in the Democratic platform: "We denounce Republican Protection as a fraud upon the labor of the great majority of the American people for the benefit of a few. We declare it to be a fundamental principle of the Democratic party that the Federal Government has no constitutional power to impose and collect Tariff duties, except for the purpose of revenue only. We demand that the collection of such taxes be limited to the necessities of the Government when honestly and economically administered."

In drafting and voting for this resolution, the members either showed dense ignorance of American political history, or they manifested a purpose to win votes by deceiving the voters. I cannot at the bidding of these gentlemen, unlearn the lessons of my whole life. The greater part of my long life has been passed in the study of American political history and constitutional law. If I cannot claim to be an authority on such subjects, I can point out to others the true sources from which to devise interpretations of the Constitution. Those sources are not to be found in recent Congressional speeches, whether made by members of one party or another. They are to be found in the interpretations given to the Constitution by the First Congress, by which Washington's administration, and by the succeeding administrations of Jefferson, Madison, John Quincy Adams and Jackson.

I have been requested by the Secretary of The American Protective Tariff League to give my views of the Protective issue, as it has been made by the two parties in the present campaign. This I shall do in a communication to be addressed to him, of which he will make such use as he sees fit.

I am, Mr. Editor, very respectfully, Your obedient servant,
GEORGE TICKNOR CURTIS.

Look at the Eagle.

He's the same proud bird that will adorn the Republican ballot at the coming election.

ELSEWHERE will be found the announcement of Judge John C. Townsend as a candidate for Commonwealth's Attorney on the People's Party ticket.

THERE must be a letter somewhere from G. Cleveland to Charles Ross. If the detectives would keep a watch on the mail from Buzzard's Bay and trace it, all the lost and unknowns would be found.

WHEN the Democratic party nominated Cleveland for President it threw away its chances to carry New York; and when it failed to nominate Gray for Vice President it did the same thing as to Indiana.

COL. C. M. BARNETT, an excellent likeness of whom is presented on first page, is making a very successful campaign. His speeches are well received and prospects of his election grow brighter every day.

BERGMAN, the Anarchist, who attempted to assassinate Mayor Frick, of Homestead, Pa., some time ago has been convicted and sent to the penitentiary for the term of twenty-one years. He had no counsel, but conducted the defense himself.

ALONZO BROOKSHIRE, of Montgomery county, who killed Jailer Tipton and Constable Howard while trying to arrest him has been convicted and sent to the penitentiary for life. He is only nineteen years old and has served one term in the penitentiary for horse-stealing.

GEORGIA'S canvass is not altogether an uninteresting affair for the country at large. The Republicans are supporting the People's Party, whose candidate for Governor stands well with the people of the State. On October 5 the election takes place.
Both sides pretend to be confident of victory. The Bourbons will probably win by a majority of 20,000 or upward.

THE Hartford Herald and the Democrat party ought to be the last to say anything about incompetency in either those who are, or who would be the servants of the people. If the Herald and the Democrat party in the person of the County Attorney has not the most striking example of official incompetency ever inflicted upon a good people, then we are sadly mistaken. If the question of competency or incompetency had decided the issue the incumbent of the County Attorney's office would have been elected to stay at home by a vast majority. But even in a comparison between Mr. Rowe and Mr. Neal with a fair and unbiased decision the latter gentleman does not suffer and it does Mr. Rowe neither good nor credit that his party organ should denounce Mr. Neal as incompetent, when the writer of these partisan, cowardly and disgraceful thrusts knows the charge is untrue. Hereafter let the Herald remember that those who live in glass houses should be exceedingly careful how they throw stones.

JUSTICE BREWER, who is a Kansas man, is reported as saying:
"The people (of Kansas) think that with more money many of their present hardships will pass away. They don't care what kind of money they get. They favor free coinage of silver simply because free silver means more money."
Undoubtedly that was true of such of the people of Kansas as sent such freaks to public life as Jerry Simpson and Senator Peffer. But there are evidences going to show that many of the people who did this have come to regret it since the freaks have been on exhibition and the affects of the crazy policies they advocated have been felt in Kansas. To be sure there has been an era of great prosperity and good crops in Kansas, which has resulted in large payments of mortgage indebtedness and greatly decreased the demand for borrowing money. But for those persons who have needed to borrow capital, or who had a good and profitable use to make of borrowed capital, the People's Party vagaries have worked great hardships and disadvantages. In a State where People's Party judges had refused to issue a process for foreclosure of mortgage, and where the cry of the people's leaders was that to have money to lend was nearly akin to a crime, capital naturally grew timid and did not feel safe even at a high rate of interest. The Republican farmers who were led away into this folly have had their eyes opened by the way it has been coddled by the Democrats. They see that their breaking away has been simply an aid to the Democratic party, and while it has injured the Republican party, it has, in a corresponding degree, failed to afford relief to themselves. They will hardly join the Democrats again to compass the mischief that was done in 1890.

Col. C. M. Barnett in the Fourth District.

MUMFORDVILLE, Sept. 19.—Hon. C.
M. Barnett, Republican candidate for Congress in the Fourth District, spoke here today to a good crowd and had an attentive hearing. He dwelt at large on the tariff issue and presented in a most convincing manner the benefits of the present protective policy, and showing up the weakness and insincerity of the Democratic party in this issue. He touched up the Democrats on their free silver record in contrast with the sound financial doctrine of the Republicans on this question; showed that the Democrats were hiding behind a force bill to conceal their weakness in the main question at issue. He read some bitter articles from the Courier-Journal denouncing the Federal soldiers as looters, coffee-coolers and red-nosed camp-followers and closed by a strong appeal to the people to stand by the party and its candidates that had brought to the country the greatest prosperity it had ever known. He was followed by W. D. Brownell and Capt. H. C. Martin in short speeches, and all separated in a fine humor.

BARNETT SPEAKS AT GREENSBURG.
GREENSBURG, Ky., Sept. 22.—Hon.
C. M. Barnett, Republican candidate for Congress in this District, made an enthusiastic speech, touching upon the tariff, reciprocity and force bill, showing up the Third Party in its proper light. Republicans from all parts of the county were present and went away well pleased and enthusiastically determined to elect Barnett. J. B.
Russell announced himself as Republican candidate for Circuit Clerk in this county.

BARNETT SPEAKS AT LEBANON.
LEBANON, Ky., Sept. 25.—C. M.
Barnett, Republican nominee for Congress in the Fourth District, spoke to a large audience at the Court House to-night. He presented the principles of Republicanism in a most forcible manner and handled Democracy without gloves. The crowd responded in rounds of hearty applause to his many happy hits.
It was a great speech and Col.
Barnett has endeared himself to the Republicans of Lebanon and Marion counties. He was followed by Jo. B.
Rogers, editor of the Hartford Republican, in a strong and eloquent address, in which he showed the inconsistencies of Democracy from a historical standpoint.

CENTRAL CITY, KY.

SEPTEMBER 23, 1892.
MR. EDITOR.—The speaking at Greenville this afternoon between E.
T. Franks, Assistant Elector for the State at Large and W. T. Hayward, Democratic Elector for the Fourth Congressional District, was a signal Republican victory. Franks had talked nearly half his time before Hayward arrived, and when asked if he would divide time, replied affirmatively, and only an hour being asked, said that he would finish 40 minutes and have 20 minutes reply. Mr.
Hayward made a good Democratic speech actually induced the Democrats, who were bowed down under the weight of the irrefutable arguments and the undeniable truths, which Franks had poured into their ranks like hot shot from a surcharged battery of deniable, in fact, sir, who seemed just ready to get down in sackcloth and ashes and say, "Mr. Franks forgive us and let us go and we will sin no more." The Elector from Hartford induced them to look up, some of them sat upright in their chairs, some of them smiled little sardonic smiles.

These proceedings seemed to increase the skill, to give additional impetus to the strength and energy the courage with which Franks used the great Republican weapon of truth in his 20 minutes reply.
When he held that up to their view and began in eloquent strains to disclose the gleam of its own incandescence, they could stand it no longer.
Sir, the light of truth was too much for them and it seemed to dazzle them, for they scattered to the four winds, some climbing out the windows, some out the back or side doors, a whole regiment charged on the front door and took it, but cost them a considerable struggle, for each seemed to want to get out first. So that Mr. Franks was left to finish his argument to a crowd whose Republican majority was about its own size.

Let the good work go on and here is hoping that Franks will not get too sick to speak, but if he does let not the Republicans try to shelter behind his indisposition. E. P. U.

The "Ruffian" Replies.

HARTFORD, Ky., Sept. 28th.
MR. EDITOR.—Do you see the editor of the Hartford weakly Herald kick? Now if nobody but Hayward was sheared why is this editor kicking? The fact is I meant to shear all those Democrats who asserted that Franks would be so easily answered, and yet did not offer to do so, and if in the use of my wool denuding instruments, I was so awkward as to puncture the pelt of this editorial animal, about the flank, I beg his pardon, for I was merely after his wool. His defense of Hayward sounds like the howl of a tired nocturnal wanderer. His tirade against my character (seeming desirous of reducing the matter to personalities) is like the bursting of feilid excrecences from the rottenness of his own intellect.

"Protection of the sick." Why I am not only a protector of the sick, but of late have come to regard myself as a physician. Did not my de-coction have a most salutary effect upon the Democratic Elector. Is he not at this moment out in the District on a stumping tour? Yes, sir, in warfare. I hold the disabled sacred. Unlike my friend who says "the infant, the woman and the man disabled by disease are sacred in a war fare save with savag s, etc." I hold those sacred who are disabled by diseases even when waging war with savages, as he has already seen no doubt from my generous administration of medicines to the sorely afflicted Democratic soldier. Was that "ill-bred attack" against Mr. Hayward only? Was it not against the whole host of Democratic orators, who were that day within the sound of the Republican Elector's voice? What more is that "in Reply to a Ruffian" than an attempt on the part of the Democratic Editor to take these Democratic orators with him and cowardly skulk behind Mr.
Hayward's indisposition, making it a protection to themselves? Ah, sir, this is one instance in which the disabled Mr. Hayward, protected the able-bodied warriors of the Democratic ranks.

I will close, Mr. Editor, as your space is limited, but of course, we all understand that drubbing at Greenville.

Medical Society.

The Ohio County Medical Society met at the Baptist Church in Hartford, September, 24, 1892. In the absence of Secretary, Dr. Ed Ford, Dr.
J. D. Maddox was made Secretary pro tem. On motion Dr. B. G. Patterson was made a member of the Society.

Dr. J. D. Maddox read a paper on Varicel or Chickenpox, calling special attention to the differences and contradictions of authors in describing the disease and more especially to some symptoms of the disease, as noticed in practice, and which had not been found mentioned by any author.

Dr. J. E. Pendleton showed the Society a case of Olation Latation of the right pupil, which was diagnosed by him as a peculiar form of Rheumatism, and the members of the Society generally agreed with him in his diagnosis.

Dr. H. F. Bean read a report of 13 cases of Typhoid Fever treated consecutively without a fatal case. He depends principally on Quinine and Acetanilide and a diet of milk, eggs and toast in combating this disease.

Dr. E. B. Pendleton read a paper on Heroic Treatment, detailing a case where it had undoubtedly been the means of saving the patient's life.

Dr. L. T. Cox had no paper but reported a case of Oedema of the eyelids arising seemingly without a cause but supposed the possible aetiology was the bite of a fly.

Dr. J. E. Pendleton reported 3 cases of Laparotomy done by him where the walls of the Teimer were stitched the abdomen and treated as an external wound and all recovering with regain of health.

Dr. J. T. Miller read a paper on "Puerpal Diseases and How to Prevent Them." He spoke very forcibly of the importance of Asepsis in the case of a parturient woman recounting the dangers that might befall her and itemizing the little particulars he had adopted to prevent them.

On motion, Dr. J. D. Maddox was appointed a committee to tender the sympathies of the Society to Dr. S.
A. Jackson, hoping sincerely that he may soon recover from his protracted spell of sickness.

On motion it was agreed that as Dr. L. T. Cox an esteemed member of the Society was about to leave our county to seek a location in Davies county, that we recommend him as a practical and worthy physician, also, as an honorable gentleman.

The Society then adjourned to meet the first Saturday in May next.

J. S. SMITH, Pres.
J. D. MADDOX, Sec'y pro tem.

BELL'S RUN.

Grand Republican Rally and Flag Raising.

The Republicans of Bell's Run had a flag raising at this place on September 24, 1892. The flag presented by the Hon. Wm. Milligan in a very neat and appropriate speech in which he gained many friends for the Republicans. In the afternoon the Hon.
E. D. Guffy and Col. J. S. R. Wedding made speeches on the political issues of the day. They told of some of the many good deeds of the Republican party and some of the evil deeds of the Democratic party. If they could make us a few more speeches before the election this precinct would give a large Republican majority.

Quite a number of the People's Party were present and some of them are thoroughly convinced that they have been led astray by false lessons and are now convinced that the Republican party is the only party that is in favor of protecting the laborers of this country and of paying them in an honest dollar.

The Hon. Judge John P. Morton and Mr. D. F. Tracy were present, shaking hands with the boys as usual.
This was the most successful Republican rally we have ever had in this precinct. We would be glad to have the orators with us again before the coming election.

Hurrah, for Harrison and Reid and the Republican ticket from top to bottom. At the close, beautiful bouquets were presented to the speakers.

To my Friends.

I am with the only American Clothing & Shoe House in Owensboro, and that is Oak Hall, corner of 3d & Frederica Street. Come and see me.

BUSINESS CARD!

To the People of Ohio and Adjoining Counties,

The season for the AUTUMN TRADE is at hand. The Summer Garb will soon be doffed, and the Autumn Attire put on. The people want something new and fashionab'e. Say what you please this is true, and right. As well buy NEW GOOD and FASHIONABLE ones as lines that have been in use fifty years. Recognizing this fact, and a just one, we have spared no pains nor trouble to buy SOMETHING NEW absolutely new. No last-year stock, but something new and toney. We find this to be the first want of the people, after which they want to know the prices. Well, as to prices, let us moralize. The man that tells you that he can sell you goods 10 or 20 per cent. cheaper than anybody else is underating your intelligence. We make no such proposition. Prices and values are two things. It is one thing to know a value and another to fix a price. We have endeavored by close attention and experience to learn something of values, and every advantage that has been turned to account in reducing prices. MUSCLE, BRAIN and MONEY have all been used for this purpose, and we confidently assert that we have given the people satisfaction in this line. Now all we ask is that you give us a visit, as we

On Saturday, Sept. 24th.

Beaver Dam Roller Mills.

The attention of the public is specially called to the fact that this Mill has just been completed upon the most modern plan, with all the improved appliances for the manufacture of the FINEST FLOUR and other Mill Products. Positively no money has been spared to make it turn out as fine product as any Mill in the STATE.

It has been thoroughly tested, having been run almost every day since its completion and a portion of the time at night to keep up with its orders. Its product has been sold to the best, most scrutinizing particular trade of the country, and it is with pride that it can point to testimonials from the best bakers and many of the very best cooks of the county that it makes the best flour they ever used. For the benefit, convenience and protection of the farmer has this Mill been built, and to him will it look for its support.

With proper care Ohio County can produce as good wheat as any, and this Mill intends to see that her farmers get the benefit of any efforts they put forth in this direction. The best products of this Mill shall go upon the farmers table, and if he will favor it with his patronage and his influence satisfaction will be guaranteed to him.

We have now one of the very best and most experienced millers in the Green River Country, but that no pains may be spared to give the farmer the full benefit of his good wheat crop, we have ordered and are expecting every day an expert miller sent by the builders of our Mill to stay with us during the season. We shall certainly consider it a great favor if every farmer in the County will call on us within the next 60 days and get a sample of our product and our treatment. We want all the FIRST-CLASS wheat that is for sale in the County and if you have it to spare, load it up, and we will pay the highest market price for it.
Mill open every day except Sunday.

MILLINERY

Dress Goods.

Our line of Dress Goods and Millinery will be in charge of Mrs. Taylor and Miss Lizzie Barnes, who will endeavor to give you the neatest, nicest and cheapest hat or Dress that can be had any where for the money.

We opened to the glare of the public the neatest, most stylish and cleanest stock of General Merchandise we ever offered and now through the Republican, extend a special invitation to every farmer and wife, man, woman and child in the broad land of Ohio county to visit our store and see if we do not vindicate ourselves in every assertion made. We mean business in the strictest sense when we say we offer inducements that will make competition wiggle. We still offer CASH PRICE advantages that no credit merchant can afford.

"IT USED TO BE THE FASHION BUT IT DON'T GO NOW."

With the man that has a few dollars to lay in his fall and winter clothing, shoes and dress goods, to pay a credit profit when he can save from 5 to 15 per cent by paying Spot Cash.

"THEY ACCOMMODATE YOU,"

But you pay for it dearly in the outcome. Can he afford to sell on credit as cheap as for cash? No. Can he afford to sell to the cash buyer at one price and the credit man for another? No. All merchants doing a credit business must protect themselves. We "believe that the man who dances should pay the fiddler." Moral: Buy of us where you can get a close spot cash price.

Clothing and Shoes.

Clothing and Shoes everybody knows we are away up in "G," in these. We can please the most fastidious, in Clothing from the Duke and fat man down to the Tad with knee pants just 3 or 4 years old. Overcoat, don't mention it until the weather changes, then watch us. If you have a burnt foot, thick foot, slim foot, or a big foot, don't fail to see if we can please you in prices, from $1.50 to $5.00.

WAGONS

Fertilizer.

Farmers, bear in mind, we have just added a Car load of the celebrated "Olds" wagons and two Car loads of Bone Dust, for wheat which we invite your attention to before buying elsewhere. Can give you any size or break wanted.

Come and bring your wife and children for your Boots, Shoes, Jeans, Blankets, ets. Those ladies or gentlemen needing a Fair outfit can be accommodated between now and then, so come early and get choice. Yours Respectfully,

TAYLOR & CO.

Beaver Dam, Ky.
